The President Writes a Letter to Representative Catchings.

THE BILL DOES NOT SUIT HIM.

Not in Line with Reform, but It Is an Improvement to Existing Conditions.

Washington, Ang. 28.—The president yesterday sent the following letter to Representative Catchings, of Mississippi, who consented to its pub lication in view of its public character and importance:
Hon. T. C. Catchings:
EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, Aug

EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, AUG.

27.—My Dear Sir: Since the conversation I had with you and Mr. Clark, of Alabama, a few days ago in regard to my action upon the tariff bill now before me, I have given the subject full and most serious consideration. The result is I om more settled than ever in the determination to allow the bill to become a law without we offer the serious consideration.

full and most serious consideration. The result is I am more settled than ever in the determination to allow the bill to become a law without my signature.

When the formulation of legislation which it was hoped would embody democratic ideas of tariff reform was lately entered upon by the congress, nothing was further from my anticipation than a result which I could not promptty and enthusiastically indorse. It is therefore with a feeling of the utmost disappointment that I submit to a denial of this privilege.

I do not claim to be better than the masses of my party, nor do I wish to avoid any responsibility which on account of the passage of this law. I enght to bear as a member of the democratic organization, neither will I permit myself to be separated from my party to such an extent as might be implied by my veto of tariff legislation which, though disappointing, is still chargeable to democratic effort. But there are provisions in this bill which are not in line with honest tariff reform, and it contains inconsistences and crudities which ought not to apper in tariff laws or laws of any kind. Besides, there were, as you and I well know, incidents accompanying the passage of the bill through congress which made every sincere reformer unhappy, while influences surrounded it in the latter stages and all the fred with its final construction which ought not to be recognized or tolerated in democratic tariff reform councils.

And yet, notwithstanding all its vicissitudes and all the bad treatment it received at the hands of pretended friends, it presents a vast improvement to existing conditions. It will lighten many tariff burdens that now rest heavily upon the people. It is not only a barrier against the return of mad protection, but it furnishes a vantage ground from which must be waged further aggressive operations against protected monopoly and governmental favoritism.

I take my place with the rank and file of the

I take my place with the rank and file of the democratic party who believe in tariff reform and who know what it is, who refuse to accept the results embodied in this bill as the close of the war, who are not blinded to the fact that the war, who are not blinded to the fact that the livery of democratic reform has been stolen and worn in the service of republican protection, and who have marked the places where the deadly blight of treason has blasted the councils of the brave in their hour of might. The trusts and combinations—the communism of pelf—whose machinations have prevented us from reaching the success we deserve should not be forgotten or forgiven. We shall recover from our astonishment at their exhibition of power, and if then the question is for eed upon us whether they shall submit to the free legislative will of the people's representatives or shall dictate the laws which the people unst obey, we will accept and settle that issue as one involving the integrity and safety of American Institutions.

I hove the principles of true democracy because they are founded in patriotism and upon justice and fairness toward all interests. I am proud of my party organization because it is conservative, sturdy and persistent in the enforcement of its principles. Therefore I denot despair of the efforts made by the house of representatives to supplement the bill already asseed by terribre legislation and to have expansed to the fortune of the principles. ocratic reform has been stole forcement of its principles. Therefore I do not despair of the efforts made by the house of representatives to supplement the bill already passed by further legislation and to have engrafted upon it such modifications as will more nearly recet temocratic hopes and aspirations.

I cannot be mistaken as to the ne-essity o free raw materials as the foundation of logical and sensible tariff reform. The extent to which this is recognized in the legislation already secured is one of its encouraging features; but it is vexatious to recall that while free coal and fron have been denied, a letter of the secretary of the treasury discloses the fact that both might have been made free by the annual surrender of only about 1700,000 of unnecessary revenue.

I am sure that there is a common habit of under-estimating the importance of free raw materials in tariff legislation, and of regarding them as only related to concessions to be made to our manufacturers. The truth is their influence is so far-reaching that if disregarded a complete and beneficeat scheme of tariff reform cannot be successfully inaugurate!
When we give to our manufacturers free raw materials we unshackle American enterprise and ingranuity, and these will open the doors of

When we give to our manufacturers free raw materials we unshackle American enterprise and ingranity, and these will open the doors of foreign markets to the reception of our wares and give experiently for the continuous and remunerative employment of American labor. With materials cheapened by their freedom from tariff charges, the cost of their product must be correspondincly cheapened. Therework the cost of their product must be correspondincly cheapened. Therework is the consumer would demand that the manufacturers be obliged to submit to such a readjustment and modification of the tariff upon their finished goods as would secure to the people the benefit of the reduced cost of their man facture and shield the producer against the exactions of inordi-nate profits. It will thus be seen that free raw materials and a just and fearless regula-tion and reduction of the tariff to meet the changed conditions, would carry to every hun ble home in the land the ble-sings of mercase ble home in the land the blessings of increased confort and cheaper living.

The millions of our countrymen who have fought bravely and well for tariff reform should be exhorted to continue the struggle, boldly challenging to open warfare and constantly guarding against treachery and half-heartestness in their camp. Tariff reform will not be settled until it is honestly and fairly settled in the interest and to the beautiff of a patient and long-suffering people. Yours very truly,

GROYER CLEVELAND.

Brief Review of What Was Acc

Washington, Aug. 27.—The last month of the present session of con-gress excepting the ten days during which the tariff bill has been in the president's hands have been fairly productive of general legislation and ther is a short list of bills which have be come laws to add to the review of the session's work previously published. All of the appropriation bills have now become laws. The general now become laws. The general deficiency and sundry civil bills were both signed late in the ses-sion and the latter measure embraces two important pieces of legislation, the appropriation of $200,000 for a govern-ment exhibit at the Cotton States' exhibition, to be held at Atlanta, and the sion to each of the arid land state and the states which may be formed from the territories, of 1,000,000 acres each of desert lands for reclamation, a plan which is intended to advance the movement for irrigation in the west and to partially take the place of the scheme for irrigating by the general government which has been fostered by the western members.

The only financial measure which has been enacted by the Fifty-third congress, excepting the repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act, became a law August 13. It was the bill introduced by Representative Cooper, of Indiana, to subject to state and municipal taxation the national municipal taxation the national bank notes and the United States treasury notes, under the same provis-ions, by which gold, silver and other money is taxed. It is left optional with the states, however, to tax those heretofore exempted forms of money.

The most important acts emanating from the committee on judiciary were:

One authorizing the compromise and settlement of the differences between the government and the state of Arkansas and of certain states of onds held by the government; an act for the protection of persons furnishing material and labor struction of public works by allowing them to bring suit against contractors in the name of the government; an act permitting certain classes of corporations to furnish bonds for governmen offcials; one fixing the time for hold ing federal courts in Nebraska; one changing the lines between the judicial districts of North Carolina, and an act amending the funding act of Arizona.

On the recommendation of the ways and means committee the articles of state fair were exempt from the payment of duties, and from the foreign affairs committee was reported an act for the disposal of the accretions of the Virginius indemnity fund, an interest and premiums of the bands in which it was invested to the original benefiiaries of the fund.

The contest between the interior de metment and the railroads operating in Oklahoma, which has been a stub-born one, has finally been settled by the enactment of a law compelling the roads to maintain depots and stations at all townsites on the lines established by the department. An act was passed extending from four to five rears the limit of time within which final proof may be made by settlers who have declared their intention of taking up desert lands. Another law in the interest of western settlers was one enabling those who desire to locate in other than mineral lands to secure a survey by depositing with the government a sum sufficient to cover the cost of the survey. He also elicited the statement that the stock of the Pullman Land association was entirely in the possession of the Pullman Palace Car Co., having been acquired gradually by the investment of the car company's surplus earnings in the certificates of the land association. The original 500 acres on which the town stands was acquired by the car company on legal advice and by the authority of its charter, which gave it right to acquire land to the amount needed in the business opera-

THE TIGER SNAKE. An Australian Reptile Whose Bite Is In-stantly Fatal.

"We hear a great deal about the deadly qualities of the rattlesnake, the adder and the copperhead," said George Wharton, of San Diego, "and pretty nearly everybody has shuddered at the description of the horrible effects that ensue from the bite of the Gila monster. They have a snake in Australia, though, whose fangs are Australia, though, whose fangs are more deadly than those of all the others I have mentioned combined. I allude to the tiger snake. The reptile-does not grow to large proportions, a length of three feet being a pretty good size, and its skin resembles the coat of the animal after whom it was named. The bite of the tiger snake is instantly fatal, and chemists who have analyzed its poison as far as possible are of the opinion that it possesses pre-cisely the same qualities as prussic acid. Persons have been known to walk out of their houses on the brief-est sort of an errand and to have been found dead five minutes afterward from the effects of the tiger snake-bite. The greatest of the tiger snakebite. The government of Australia has a standing offer of five thousand dollars, or a thousand pounds, which is nearly the same thing, to be given to any one who may discover a remedy for the bite of a tiger snake. A man named Underwood, so I have been told, once discovered the successful anti-dote, and proved its efficacy by allowing himself to be bit by the deadly reptile and incurring no evil effects from it. He wanted two thousand pounds for his secret, how-ever, which the colonial authorities refused to pay. One day, while drunk, Underwood was giving an ex-hibition and allowed two tiger snakes to bite him. In his maudlin state he had forgotten where he had laid the bottle containing the antidote, and he died in a few moments, his secret per-ishing with him.-Washington Star.

The Norwegian Fjords. The fjords correspond to our bays or inlets. They are long, narrow, winding arms of the sea, with bold shores and deep waters, the surface of which is as smooth and mirrorlike as a pond. If you can remember the Palisades of capital stock was increased for the legitimate business of the company. There was no water in it and none of it represented dividends.
